

Ministry Residency Program at Denver Seminary

INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITY: A One-Year Presbyterian Experience in Church Planting

LOCATION: Colorado Springs, CO

ABOUT: <https://www.presbyterianmission.org/ministries/1001-2/apprenticeship/>

A one-year residency is available in Colorado Springs beginning in summer 2018 within a program for forming new faith communities. Under the sponsorship of the Presbyterian Church (USA) 1001 Program for establishing new worshipping communities, this residency provides the resident with valuable experience in forming new communities of faith and concomitantly fosters the church planting work of the Presbytery of Pueblo.

POSITION SUMMARY: To serve as the program coordinator to Middle School and High School students and their parents over the summer.

TUITION CONSIDERATION: $3,000 Per Semester
10% tuition discount
Taxable Living Stipend: YES (plus housing)

ESTIMATED TIME COMMITMENT: SUMMER ONLY
10 hours per week
Plus one full week for a Mission Trip

RESPONSIBILITIES:

The resident will engage in three activities as follows.

1. The resident will assist Rev. Collin Downing (M. Div., Fuller) in his ministry of establishing a new worshipping community in the Ivywild neighborhood of Colorado Springs (Wayfarers Chapel, now in its fourth year).
2. The resident will survey various localities within the Presbytery of Pueblo (southeastern Colorado) having potential for being the setting for starting a NWC. These localities include urban places with various social justice issues, rural areas containing small cities which economically have been left behind, mountain towns with a tourism basis and a focus on an outdoor lifestyle, and university settings with a potential for a campus ministry that evolves into a new worshipping community.
3. After doing the initial survey of potential new worshipping community places, the resident (in cooperation with the Presbytery) will select one in which to begin preparing for a new worshipping community. This work will include doing a neighborhood assessment, developing relationships within the community, identifying and developing relationships with potential ministry partners, and developing a mission plan for moving forward.

The ideal applicant for this residency must have a strong allegiance to Jesus Christ, strong entrepreneurial inclinations, willingness to be a risk-taker, a love for gathering people together for a common purpose, a sensitivity to the leading of the Spirit, and a passion for bringing the uncommitted into a relationship with Jesus.

The resident will have the ongoing support of two persons: Rev. Collin Downing, pastor of Wayfarers Chapel and Dr. Ronald Anderson, Executive Presbyter of the Presbytery of Pueblo. In addition, he or she will participate in a cohort of people engaged in various aspects of church planting led by Rev. Downing.

Applications are invited from persons who are at any stage of seminary education—pre-, mid-, or post-seminary. Applicants are not restricted to persons of a particular denominational background, but must be comfortable within this denominational context. The Presbytery of Pueblo is part of the Presbyterian Church (USA) and the stipend for this program comes from the PCUSA 1001 New Worshiping Communities program. Our Presbytery includes persons with diverse opinions on some of today's "hot-button" issues but the focus of this loving community is on their unity in discipleship to Jesus Christ.
